It's review time!
Standards P-20-05

The Painting and Decorating Contractors of America (PDCA) policy is to review all of the adopted standards every five (5) years. In 2009 ten (10) of the PDCA industry standards will be reviewed. In order to effectively address each standard, a process has been set up to review a group of standards at a time. Standard P-20-05 is currently under review.

Industry standards, in order to be valid, must undergo careful scrutiny by the entire PDCA membership and public. That is why as matter of policy all proposed new standards and reviewed standards are required to be open to comment prior to consideration by PDCA. Your comments are of critical importance! The comment period is designed to afford you every opportunity to make your opinions known. When the comment period closes (Monday March 15, 2010), the PDCA Standards committee will consider all comments during the review of these standards.

To facilitate consideration of your comments we are asking you to submit your comments in writing, prior to the closing date, to PDCA National by email, mail, or fax. Please direct your comments to:
